Hurst Green Route A

About This Walk

Hurst Green is a small village situated on the southern boundary of the Forest of Bowland AONB. The 18th century Hurst Green economy was helped by four bobbin mills, all powered by the rapid waters of Dean Brook, which this route partly follows.

Walk Description

★ GPS: SD 6844 3820

Start from the memorial hall on Avenue Road (adjacent to the Bayley Arms). With the memorial hall on your right walk along the pavement for a short distance.

2 GPS: SD 6839 3827

When you reach Smithy Row turn left off the road, following the footpath sign, but keep to the right at the fork and follow the bridleway sign. Continue ahead, noticing the old sandstone quarries on your right, as you follow the path along.

3 GPS: SD 6806 3868

Go left over a bridge and continue along the path that rises ahead.

4 GPS: SD 6757 3889

Reach a well-made track and turn left and follow this for just over half a mile until you reach a lane.

5 GPS: SD 6794 3801

Turn left here to follow Shire Lane, which eventually becomes The Dene. (Care here as the lane bends as you head down into the dean.) Follow the lane back to the village, where it meets the road opposite the Bayley Arms pub.
